

THE DAILY BULLETIN.
THURSDAY EVE., SEPT. 4, 1884.

SENATOR H. B. ANTHONY died on the 2nd inst., at Providence, Rhode Island.

None convicts from the penitentiary at Frankfort are at work on a turnpike near Carlisle.

The returns from the election in Virginia show a reduction of the usual Republican majority.

REPUBLICAN professions of love and respect for foreign born citizens is like a limited railroad ticket; "good for this trip only."

BLAINE represents the political bummers; he is the embodiment of all that is obnoxious and disreputable in the Republican party.

BLAINE seems to have been quite thrifty, for after twenty years in Congress he has a $70,000 house in Washington and is regarded as a millionaire.

CAPT. W. L. HUBER, of Wolfe County, is announced as a candidate for the Republican Congressional nomination in the Tenth district.

The Chicago Times says: Mr. Blaine's despondency is very discouraging to his friends. They had expected to paint the campaign red; it is more likely to be painted blue.

The First Kentucky Brigade (Confederate) will meet in re-union at Elizabethtown, on the 19th inst. It will be one of the most interesting meetings since the war.

Riot and bloodshed in Ohio; miners under arrest in Pennsylvania; laborers starving in New England, and convicts in the mines of Kentucky. Behold the fruits of the tariff!

BLAINE promised not to be a "dead-head in the Little Rock Railroad scheme," and he wasn't; but it took $65,000 in the hands of the road to induce him to fulfill that promise.

PRESIDENT ARTHUR witnessed on Saturday, at Newport, with a great deal of sham enthusiasm, an exceedingly spirited sham battle between several vessels of our navy. The Tallapoosa was not in the engagement.

JAMES G. BLAINE, while in Congress, not only voted for every railroad land grant and subsidy bill, but was the champion of the corporations whenever the government was to be victimized for the benefit of some corporation.

Two distilleries in Powell County were burned a few days ago by the women of the neighborhood, who thus avenged themselves for the drunkenness and profligacy the establishments had brought upon their husbands and sons.

The Kentucky Press Association contemplates an excursion to Mexico this fall, and return by the way of New Orleans, and take up the World's exposition. The trip would be an interesting one, and can be made at comparatively a trifling expense.

Everything goes down except taxation. Wheat is low, corn is low, meat is low, cotton and woolen goods, iron and steel, and above all wages are low, but taxation is still the same, and the subsidies given great corporations are as extravagant as ever. Down with the war tariff!

BUSINESS men are clamoring for money, yet the Treasury is filled to overflowing, and the public debt is paid long before it is due. Commerce is depressed, industry is stagnant, anxiety and solicitude exists everywhere all the result of reckless legislation and misgovernment. The time has come for a change. Down with the war tariff!

Self-reliance, joined to self-respect and self-control, are very sure guarantees to success in life. Every man is the architect of his own future, whether it be good or bad. If he will keep his evil appetites under strict self-control, having sufficient self-respect never to do a mean act—and may have a heart to do any kind of work that may be set before him, there is no doubt but he will achieve a reasonable success in life.

The Clark County Democrat which was in days past one of Judge Hargis' firmest supporters now says: Judge Hargis has sent his last opinion to Frankfort. We have never heard but that Judge Hargis has made an excellent judge. He brought to the Appellate bench an unusual amount of legal talent, a zealous devotion to official duty and a great deal of industry. As a man of talent and as a judicial officer we have much admiration for him, but as a politician we regard him a putrid, puking, shyster.

UNUSUAL FRANKNESS.

Punch.

Jones (after having dubiously accepted an invitation to dine with Brown)—And you're sure you won't be disappointed if I don't turn up?

Brown—Oh, no, I assure you, not at all.

A MOMENT OF TERROR.
Perilous Leap to Save a Lad Who Was Suspended in Midair.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—Johnny Mackintyre, a chubby little fellow of seven years, who had just passed at No. 100, West 10th street, Adjacent the house is a six-story factory. The factory has a flat roof, and being easily accessible by ladders from their own roof, Johnny Mackintyre was flying a kite on the roof of the factory. Beginning at one end of the roof, he had run across the entire length. Most of the way he ran back ward, pulling the kite after him. So absorbed he had been the far too, and striking his head on the low guard that bounds the roof, fell over the edge on the Elizabeth street, turning over and over in the air as he fell.

Luckily there were telegraph poles at that point, and the boy by a good fortune at that moment, had run across one of the lower wires in his hands and hung there about fifty feet above the ground. There was no other wire within his reach.

A few persons had seen the little fellow and, running to him a crowd gathered. Unable to render the instant assistance the spectators stood paralyzed with horror, gazing up at the boy dangling between heaven and earth. Not a cry escaped the lad's lips.

"Bring out right away, and don't you cry," said the lad's mother, who had run up.

He had been hanging by his hands for a moment. Neumann clambered over the edge of the roof, and, supporting himself by his fingers on the narrow line of brick on the outside guard, hung directly over the edge.

"Oh, Frank," cried the lad, "do hurry in; you're going to do something. I can't stand this any more. I'm going to drop."

"Hold on, minute longer and I'll be there," shouted Neumann.

Swinging his body backward and forward like a pendulum he cleared the wall and leaped. Like an arrow he shot straight through the fifth floor and caught with his hand the iron rounds of the ladder between the fourth and fifth stories.

A loud cheer went up from the crowd when the lad was safe. It was a fearful leap, but a successful one.

"You'll have to be more lively, Frank," said the boy.

"Just one moment yet," said the lad.

The boy had again got hold on the ladder with his feet and one arm, and having freed out so that he could just grasp the lad's wrist. Then he drew him in amid the cheers of the crowd. Taking the boy in his arms he descended the ladder, and when he reached the ground, when his strength failed him he let go his hold, dropping with the boy to the ground. Neither was hurt. Then the crowd shouted itself home.

The little fellow's face was white. "Frank, I was scared to death that again, if I was you, or all he said. Then he ran away and hid himself in a cellar, where he remained for two hours fearing the paternal wrath.

Frank Neumann about a month ago received the life of a man who had fallen from a mud river steamboat.

DRUGGISTS HORSES.

The Scheme Successfully Played at Various Races.

Mr. Louis, Sept. 3.—There was a competition charged with the purpose of poison the racing mare Lady of the Lake, was removed to the County Jail. He has not made a full confession, but it is known that he engaged in some scheme to discredit the race horse.

The police think that they have got to work on however, and will endeavor to ferret out the guilty persons. It is said Redmond doused John Davis and other horses at Chico, and that he worked his scheme at New York, and that he planned the Jockey Club will hold a meeting today and investigate the matter as far as they can.

THIRTEEN HORSES.

TRENTON, N. J., Sept. 4.—A letter from Samuel Tilden's secretary received informs Governor Abbott that Mr. Tilden's health is so poor that he does not equal to the task of addressing the great political meeting to be held in the community of Princeton, on the Democratic Convention, of resolutions in his honor was passed by that body, and that he would prefer that the resolutions be transmitted to him in writing.

The presentation was to have taken place to-day at Greystone, and Governor Abbott was to have been the spokesman of the committee.

THE WOULD-BE SUICIDE.

IS NOW WRITING TO Escape Death.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Sept. 4.—District Attorney McGarren has issued a warrant for the arrest of Samuel Roberts, the defrauded paymaster of Charles Parish & Co. Roberts has not yet been arrested, however, and it is thought he has fled to New York. Dr. Bullard, his medical adviser, says that Mr. Roberts was out on a carriage drive for the benefit of his health, when the detective was at his cottage, and will remain there for some time.

A Scoundrel's Prank.

New York, Sept. 4.—John Lowden, a young and belligerent lad of this city, suddenly disappeared, leaving debts to the extent of $40,000. It is believed he has gone to Europe, and it is alleged, is accompanied by a young lady who was a frequent visitor of his house. He leaves a wife, two children and is reported to be another behind with but little means of support.

Now Is the Time to Buy Stocks.

SARATOGA, Sept. 4.—The knit goods manufacturers' convention, which began its session in the Grand Union Hotel yesterday, concluded early this morning. Dr. S. Boggs has been elected president. The committee will now proceed to establish rules and regulations, the remaining closing of mills so as to check over-production next season, and to advance prices considerably. The action will effect men's goods only.

Mr. F. M. Mathew's Trial.

BALTIMORE, N. Y., Sept. 4.—"Mimbret" was produced here last night with extraordinary eclat in the newly decorated and improved Court Street Theatre. The chief interest centered in Margaret Mathew, who, for the first time, appeared in the role of "Lady Macbeth," and a character which she Bobbed Pierce Singing.

SATANAH, Ga., Sept. 4.—Bobbed Pierce is still alive though so low that it is feared he will not survive the night. He is rational and fully conscious of his condition.

One Butcher Settled, Washington Post.

"The farmer and the laboring man do know," says General Butler, "that a Democratic House of Representatives has been more popular and received more taxation than any other House. Representatives has ever appropriated in time of peace." This is not true, as General Butler ought to know. The first session of the Forty-seventh Congress appropriated $265,510,639.85. The first session of the Forty-eighth Congress appropriated $166,160,740.01. The Democratic House cut $18,000,000 off the demands of the Republican Senate.

Caleb Overreached Himself, Boston Transcript.

About 1832 according to a writer in the Traveler, Caleb Cushing desired to go to Congress, and party morals had not so far advanced in that time as to admit of candidature for office, so he resorted to claims. There appeared in one of the party organs one or more letters setting forth the superior qualifications of Caleb Cushing. They were ably written, touched in elegant language and had a Machiavellian air which made them popular. Unfortunately, however, some one connected with the Boston Post denied them. This Cushing flatly denied. The controver very waxed hot till Cushing's wife, one of the most elegant and accomplished of women (the daughter of Judge Wilde), who was a member of the Boston Society, announced herself as the writer. The manuscript was produced and compared with hers, and the public was satisfied; but the exposé caused her death, and perhaps it was the only act in all his life that Caleb Cushing ever regretted. He dictated the letters.

Accident to Handy No. 2.

A telegram from Mr. Bruce Redden, sent from Portsmouth, and received this morning, states that the Handy No. 2 broke her steam pipe two miles below that place. Fortunately no one in board was hurt.

WASN'T IN.

Detroit Free Press.

The occupant of an office on Congress street, a fixed master, only once in such a shape as this, has called to have the garments of a boy in the anteroom, and as he retired into his den beyond he said to the youth:

"Now, young man, look me in the eye."

"Yes, sir."

"And remember what I say."

"Yes, sir."

"If any person calls and asks if I am in you must say you don't know. You with them and their business. If the boy is a financial matter you must come in here, stop a minute, and return and say that I am out of town to take baths for my rheumatism."

It was hardly an hour before a stranger came in and asked his business, he replied:

"Well, I called on a little errand involving some money."

That was the cue for the boy. He retreated to the back room, winked at his employer, and returned to the ante-room and reported:

"He has just left for the country on a vacation."

"Then I'll leave a note," said the man, and he wrote and wrote a few lines, failed to turn up the man who had called. The boy over there was looking on and cast down yesterday. One would have said that somebody had been swearing at him.

A DIFFERENCE OF TASTE

While One Lady May Prefer a Chinese Laundryman

Another Prefers a Negro, and So Go Two Mississippi Miscegenators in Jail—Question of Naturalization.

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 4.—It became noisy about Tuesday on the streets that a strange marriage had taken place, to take place in Justice Grier's office, the contracting parties being a Chinese laundryman and a pretty American girl of respectable parentage. The nuptial knot was tied in the presence of a large number of Chinese residents. The bridegroom was Lee Yew, about 30, and his young wife, above the medium height and an intelligent, the looking man. He was dressed in the ordinary Chinese costume somewhat modified to the usages of this country. He told the reporter he was very concerned. The bride, while a young woman, was of rather prepossessing appearance. After the ceremony the "happy couple" walked several squares to Wah Lee's place of business, followed by a crowd of looking human beings.

The case is of more than passing interest from the fact that it is involved some delicate questions of international law. The bridegroom took out his first naturalization papers in September, 1880, two years before the enactment of Chinese forbidding the naturalization of Chinese subjects in this country. He now makes application for full papers of citizenship and it is held by legal authorities that the Chinese man who granted his request cannot be denied. Should he be refused by the Probate Court he will apply for a writ of mandamus from the United States Supreme Court. This is believed to be the only case of the kind in the country.

WHITE WOMAN AND BLACK MAN

MOBILE, ALA., Sept. 4.—Stephen Brown (colored) appeared in Meridian, Mississippi, Tuesday and was wedded by a colored preacher to Mrs. Mollie Thomas, a white woman of means. The bridegroom is a boy of 20, who returned to his home at Forest, Mississippi, when he was arrested. At the same time the woman was arrested in Meridian. Both were examined and sent before the Criminal Court on a charge of miscegenation. They are now in jail.

THE MERCHANTS & BANKERS.
Telegraph Co. Encountering Further Financial Embarrassment.

CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—The affairs of the Bankers & Merchants' Telegraph Company here are growing more complicated from day to day, and the difficulties of the company are to some extent increased by the attachment of another attachment was taken out against the company yesterday by James W. Bryan to secure a claim for $9,465 for work done for the company in the country outside of the city. The wife of the chairman of the board of Sheriff Nicholson for service, and he soon afterwards levied upon the wire conductors of the company, and will follow by levying upon the Household line of wires, which are to be mainly paid for by Mr. Bryan. It is said that the company is at least $40,000 worth of property in the country, and that unless some settlement can be arranged all this property will be disarranged and levied upon by the Sheriff.

ATTEMPTED ASSASSINATION
Of the Crown Prince of Germany.

London, Sept. 4.—It has just transpired that the Crown Prince, Frederick William, and his wife, the Crown Princess Victoria, had a narrow escape from destruction during their tour of the continent to London. It is the latter part of July. It was variously said incorrectly reported at the time that an attempt had been made by Anarchists to blow up the Crown Prince at the new palace at Potsdam. It is now learned that the attempt was made while the royal couple were en route between Belgium and Paris, and near the small French town of Longueville. Some miscreant placed heavy stones on the rail with the evident intention of throwing the train, with the royal couple, over the rail and into the river. At the last moment, however, the Prince changed his mind and came by another route. The special train was not sent over the road and the obtrusive stones were removed before the arrival of the next regular train. One man has been arrested for complicity in the attempted outrage and the police are looking for his accomplices.

CASH'S TRIUMPH

Case Against Him Nolle Prosequitur—With Judgment for the Top.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Sept. 4.—In the Court of Sessions at Chesterfield the public Prosecutor announced his resolution to nolle prosequi of Col. E. B. Cash, indicted as accessory with his son, Robert, to the murder of Major Richard at Chester. The announcement caused much disappointment. The Prosecutor was openly condemned for his action. A dispute from Chesterfield stated that the man in that county is a desperado. Cash, and it was said, has long been seen constantly armed with a Winchester rifle, in company with several of his old friends. It is feared he has designs of wreaking vengeance on the heads of the men who slew his son.

Fatal Domestic Quarrel.

BOSTON, Sept. 4.—A great crowd was collected at the court house, last night by the order of "Murder"! Oh, damn! It seemed Herman Yarger, aged thirty-five, returned home at six in the afternoon and found his wife in bed and the house in disorder. They quibbled for an hour, and Yarger, in a fit of rage and impatience, gave a blow at his wife's head, which struck her shoulder, making a serious wound. She fled. Yarger went up stairs and cut his throat, dying almost instantly.
